The Premises:

As described in countless other reviews.

The Lady:

Her profile details certainly seem accurate - late 30s, Brit, size 10, 5 foot 7, 36DD bust. The photos definitely are of her.

What isn't obvious is that she's chatty and giggly like the stereotypical blonde. Best of all, at least for me, is that she's au naturel between the legs trimmed a little perhaps but nonetheless there is a full pubic covering. And yes she is a natural blonde.

The Story:

Her's is a prime example of the value of putting clear photos on profiles. Heather first got on my radar over a year ago following her first P'Net FR and, being just my type physically, she immediately went onto my must see list. Sadly her working schedule did not coincide with the occasions when I'm passing by Milton Keynes and in the end I decided that I would have to make a special journey to see her. And I was not disappointed.

The first thing that Heather said when entering the room was "Do you kiss"? When I said yes, she launched herself at me without further formality and we spent the first couple of minutes in a DFK embrace. It was then that I first discovered that she was unshaven between the legs. I do so love natural blondes au naturel and keen to feast my eyes, we adjourned to the bed at my instigation

She was totally naked in a nanosecond while I took a couple of minutes longer to divest myself of my winter layers. When I eventually joined her, there was more DFK followed by a brief bout of owo but, impatient to explore her lovely body, I had ask her to pause a bit. After a few minutes and being aware of the approaching final whistle, I asked for 69 so I could continue with my explorations without delaying proceedings. For the last couple of minutes, Heather repositioned herself so she could get the technique right for the CIM climax. And what a climax it was.

I went away happy but wishing that I'd booked her for a longer period of time - 30 minutes really wasn't long enough to completely satisfy myself on every level. My belated new year's resolution is to reduce the number of massages I go to which nowadays make up virtually all my punting activities and make more special trips to Milton Keynes.
